Determine if you need an activation code to authenticate Autodesk software and how to do it. The request has an activation code. If you are not using Autodesk software, you do not need to generate an activation code to use it. Autodesk software comes with a one-time activation code that is valid on first use only and is stored in your installation agreement. Depending on whether you are an Autodesk product user or not, you may be required to sign in to receive an activation code. To do this, you'll need your serial number.
