Support Windows XP, Vista, 7, and 8Q: JavaFX: How to position Text inside a Pane I have a very simple JavaFX code. This is what the final application should look like: Code:

```
@Override public void start(Stage primaryStage) throws Exception { Pane root = new Pane(); root.getChildren().add(new Label("Hello World")); Scene scene = new Scene(root, 400, 400); primaryStage.setScene(scene); primaryStage.show(); }
```

 What i want to achieve is setting the position of the Text in the middle of the Pane. The text in the example above comes from a.properties file. Thanks in advance for your help! A: The Label text can be set with the following method:

root.getChildren().add(new Label("Hello World"));
```

 There is no easy way to do this for the Pane. However, you can use an empty Pane and add the Label there.

```
@Override public void start(Stage primaryStage) throws Exception { Pane root = new Pane(); // Text content should be an object you create root.getChildren().add(new Label("Hello World")); // You need to get the position of the root scene // and then set the label to be in the center of it. Scene scene = new Scene(root); scene.getRoot().setStyle("-fx-background-color: -fx-background-color:#FFCCCC;"); // Should be the same size as the root. root.getChildren().setAll(200, -200, scene
```
