We would love to hang out with them again! I would recommend them to anyone! I have met Heather through work. She is super sweet and fun and amazing. I would love to hang out with her again! You will never be sorry if you have them come take your engagement photos. They are great, fun and very talented. Most importantly, they love their job. Make sure to book them, they are great people and work hard and make it look easy. January 30, 2012 JT and Kim: Our Engagement Session ~ January 2012 Cynthia and I wanted to share our photos with all of you after our engagement session in January. I only have a few saved to share and to be honest, I had to cry when I saw these photos because it's the end of our engagement. I'm getting so emotional just by saying it - haha. I've loved our engagement session more and more as the days have gone by. Cynthia picked a fun spot with lots of pretty waterfalls around it and some beautiful long grass hills to practice our bridal photography skills. The view is so gorgeous but it also makes us much more comfortable to get into the poses and capture great images. Take a look: January 27, 2012 Paired with Connie~ My favorite part of the day was our "girl time" before the wedding. We were able to grab some coffee, fresh fruit, delicious champagne and be ourselves. Good times. January 21, 2012 Cindy and Mary~ We had a fabulous day in the Southwest last October. We got a chance to capture a variety of our own natural fall colors, and Cindy loved posing by the colorful foliage. We also had a great time doing some improv with my action & fitness playing off of their expressions and sitting in an old school swing. Our session also included a visit to their favorite restaurant and of course, wedding cake. Cindy is a Colorado native, so she was excited to go there and I think we can see why. Hope you enjoy our images. January 21, 2012 Best of luck to Spencer 55cdc1ed1c
